The Origin

In 2000, God turned my heart towards His people, the people of Israel, which resulted in the creation of my first “Doll of Blessing”. By the time I finished it, I immediately went to someone and asked, “Do you know a Jewish person? Here, put it in their hands!” From there, more dolls went to different Jewish homes and various Christian Ministries.

The Purpose

Since that time, God continues to turn my heart to see all people as He created them to be. Many of the dolls are women from the bible—prophetic dolls—that speak to the spirit of the women and the destiny God has called them to walk in and fulfill. So they serve as reminders of who they really are, what they are called to be and do, as well as seasons they’re in on the journey of life.

The Design

Each Doll is uniquely made, but there are three elements that are common in every doll: The wooden head, the remnant articles of jewellery and fabric that were discarded, but are now restored to adorn her, and the 58 strands of unbleached cotton that forms the body. Fifty-eight represents Isaiah 58 in the Bible, which refers to the restoration of old and broken places. The veil is a part of the finishing touches added to fully complete her, as she is a bride of Christ

Miriam
Exodus 2:7

The Name

Each doll is made in faith to be a blessing to the recipient. As she is displayed, may she be a reminder that God has a purpose for your life and that purpose is only found through a relationship with Jesus Christ.
